

12 November 2020

Y11 Predicted Grades

Dear Parent / Carer,

Just to quick note to inform you that Y11 students will be bringing home their GCSE Predicted Grades today.

The process to generate these has been made much more complicated this year, due to the earlier school closure. Predictions have been made based primarily on their End of Y10 exams, and moderated with more recent data where possible.

Hopefully, your son or daughter is pleased with their predictions and knows exactly what they need to do over the coming months, in order to turn these into actual results.

Unfortunately, some students will be disappointed, as is always the case at this stage. The Y11 mock exams begin soon, however (30th November) which is the perfect time to improve on them if they feel they need to. We will then take another look at predictions after this and, if needed, re-issue any that have increased.

For any students currently isolating we will arrange for their predicted grades to be emailed directly to the student's school email shortly.

If you have any questions about these predictions, please don't hesitate to get in touch with myself (a.jordan@kaa.org.uk), or Mr Abubaker (h.abubaker@kaa.org.uk).

Many thanks,

Anna Jordan
Senior Vice Principal - Academic

---