

Construction BTEC revision half term Holidays

Congratulations on your grades for the carpentry section of your BTEC assessment you all performed well.

Now is not the time to slow down , you have your COMPONENT 3: Construction and Design Pearson Set Assignment coming up in November that will require a lot of work.

How will you be revising for this?

Creating a design brief will be challenging:

You will need to take your school book home with you in order to revise what we have been over in our theory lessons.

Equally I will upload the slides that I believe will be the most relevant to google classroom for you to look over and study.

We will continue to go over relevant material within our lessons up until the day of the assessment so if there is a particular topic you are unfamiliar with let me know and we can go over it again.

Sketching will be a priority as once you enter the exam room I cannot directly support you with techniques.

It will be imperative that you know and understand the following techniques:

- Two point perspective
- Drawing a floor plan
- Understanding how to draw multiple views of a building

In order for you to practice some of the these things I have prepared a work pack that you will receive in your class.

I will also upload it to google classroom in case you loose it.
